

In the memory of Professor Wu

By this mail, I wish to express my deepest sympathy to Professor Wu Wenjun's family, friends and colleagues.

I have known Professor Wu for more than 36 years, since I met him in 1981. He was instrumental in helping me receive an education in China about the history of mathematics in China. While in Beijing for the first time, I met him as I was beginning my studies in this field, and his approach had a decisive influence on my own research.

I have immensely appreciated his devotion to his research and his broad interests. His kindness, support, and generosity will remain with me for my entire life. My debt towards him goes beyond any word I could use.

His passing away is an immense loss for all those who knew him. We will keep the souvenir of him in our hearts.

All my condolences
